Governor and Lt. Governor:

AP report from February 21 titled "Economists: Health care expenses to grow" cites Federal Health and Human Services Secretary Mike Leavitt as saying "The only force strong enough to change the course of health care is a marketplace where consumers have the information and incentive to choose quality and keep costs low."

This is consistent with revising/removing CON restrictive, monopolistic trade practices and transparency in medical billing/costs.

Alaska needs a change.

Chuck left several messages on my work phone over the weekend. In the last one, he said that the Governor had called him and has designated staff to receive his future calls. He sounded quite happy.

Because of the DC relevance, I will stay in touch with him as well.

Please note that my email address has changed. My new email address is jwkatz@alaskadc.org. Thank you .

You bet, Meg. Whatever you need I will manage. I'll have it to you tomorrow night (though I fear it will be late night). Also, if you could give me a call this afternoon sometime, I would appreciate it so we could coordinate various outreach efforts in the near and further terms.

Thanks,
Bruce

I know that this is the worst week in the world for you, but I'd like to make sure this week's briefing is the Compass piece in the ADN on Saturday. For that to happen, would really need to have the piece by tomorrow night so that we can forward it Wednesday.

Please let me know if this is an option.

Thanks,
Meg

Exactly. John Katz thought that could have been emphasized more in the statement below and so I wanted to make sure Steve understood that.

Good. It was a great meeting and an opportunity for the Governor to talk about the AGIA and to lay down her plans for the gasline. She emphasized that Alaska knows a natural gas pipeline is not only in the state's best interest, but in the nation's best interest as well. This was the first opportunity for Chairman Kelliher and Governor Palin to meet and discuss the AGIA. As you can see from the quote below, the Chairman believes that the Governor's proposal seems to be the best one to proceed and we're looking forward to working with FERC to bring Alaska's gas to market.

Just so that you know. FERC does not officially endorse any one plan. It didn't with Murkowski's and won't for Palin's, but the strong words are very encouraging.

We look forward to rolling out the AGIA Friday morning.

Kelliher:

"Today I met with Alaska Gov. Sarah Palin. We talked about her efforts on the Alaska natural gas pipeline, which I believe represent the best hope for building a pipeline to bring Alaska's vast natural gas resources to the energy-consuming lower 48 states. The Commission looks forward to her efforts on the Alaska gasline being successful and we stand ready to help to the extent we can."
